COURT OF BANKRUPTCY, Basinghall-street, Sept. 3.

The bankrupt was a bookseller, &c., of Amen-corner, and was the certificate meeting.

Mr. Lucas appeared for Mr. James Duffy, of Dublin, publisher, and Messrs. Leighton, Son, and Hodges, of 13, Shoe-lane, London, who were the assignees for Mr. W. P. Nimmo, Edinburgh, bookseller; Mr. Remnant, for the assignees; not oppose; Mr. Lawrence supported.

THE COMMISSIONER.—The outline of this case appears to be that the bankrupt's debts and liabilities are 16,000*l.*, with assets nearly 2,000*l.*

Mr. TUCKER called attention to the balance-sheet, from which it appeared that in December, 1856, there was a deficiency of 649*l.*, while the expenses from that date to the date of the bankruptcy (including interest and discount) ran double the amount of the profits.

In answer to the Court, Mr. Whitmore, the official assignee, stated that he had applied to the amount of

THE COMMISSIONER observed that it might be useful in the preparation of balance-sheets if a distinction were drawn between liabilities upon accommodation bills and liabilities on ordinary trade bills.

MR. LAWRENCE.—That has been done in this case, but Bentley has been experienced in consequence of some of the bills being of a mixed nature.

MR. LUCAS proceeded to state that the bankrupt having obtained goods from Mr. Duffy for the express purpose of supplying him, had sold the same goods to a Mr. Ford.

MR. LAWRENCE explained that Mr. Ford was an Australian export merchant.

Mr. LUCAS then said he should rest his opposition upon the figures of the balance-sheet, and upon the fact of the bankrupt having been engaged in accommodation bill transactions.

Mr. NICOLL then examined the bankrupt as to an alleged appropriation of two bills of exchange, given by Mr. Nimmo to the bankrupt, for the purpose of retiring two bills issued previously, and upon which Mr. Nimmo was liable as the drawer; but he was stopped by

The COMMISSIONER, who intimated an opinion that Mr. Nimmo had no valid ground of opposition.

Mr. LAWRENCE said the bankrupt and Mr. Nimmo ap-ward to have assisted each other from time to time by means of an exchange of bills, and he did not think, under these circumstances, that Mr. Nisimmo had much cause of complaint. In case of this description the conduct of the broker explaining was very material to be considered. He then alluded to the fact of the actual deficiency in December, 1856, not having been ascertained until after the bankruptcy, when the books were carefully inspected by an accountant. The bankrupt's conduct since the failure had been meritorious.

The COMMISSIONER.—I wish I had heard no complaint as to accommodation bills, but I have been looking at every feature of the case, and, taking into consideration the fact the bankrupt during here with a very considerable fund for the benefit of his creditors, I think I may look over so much of the case as is unfavourable to him, and taking everything into consideration that has been urged on his half, grant a second-class certificate.

Certificate accordingly.

A first-class certificate was granted to C. Churchman, of Hartford, agricultural implement maker.

MANSTON HOUSE.—Eliza Winehouse, a well-dressed man, 20 years of age, was brought before the LORD Mayor, yesterday, with having entered an hotel for an unlawful purpose.

W. Dudley, police-constable No. 547, said,—At half-past twelve, on the 20th inst., I was on duty at the Manston Hotel, and saw the defendant lift up the window of the hotel No. 1, Abbot-street, and get into the house. I crossed the road and took a look, and saw him get into the house, and saw the inmates. The owner of the house was not at home, and I took the defendant to the stationhouse and arrested her.

Mr. J. Magdi, the complainant (an Italian), said—I rent an hotel at No. 1, Abbot-street, I have known the defendant a long time. She formerly lived with me as my wife, but she afterwards quarrelled some months. She is in a habit of arriving.—

THE LORD MAYOR.—Defendant, what have you to say against the charge?

Defendant.—My Lord, that man (complainant) took me on an excellent situation and seduced me. I lived with him for some time, and he afterwards wanted to get rid of me. He said he would give me 3s. a week, which I do not consider sufficient. I met a friend of the complainant's last night, who treated me to a little gin, which excited me, and when I returned home I found the complainant waiting for me. He said he would give me a little more money weekly for the purpose of my child.

The LORD Mayor said that if the defendant's statement was true the complainant had behaved in a most heartless way to her. (To complainant).—Will you allow her a little more?

Complainant.—No, I can't afford it.

Defendant.—If he will allow me 5s. a week I will be satisfied. I have not seen him for a long time, and I have not for months and months, and he has cheated me out of My furniture, which I paid for, and the receipts for which I have shown.

Then the MAYOR.—If you have any furniture of mine, I ought to give it up.

Complainant.—I will do that.

Then the MAYOR.—If you have a wife and three children, I will give you a wife and three children.

Defendant.—To annoy him again?

Defendant.—Certainly. He is of no good to any one. I have no wife and no children.

Then the MAYOR.—If you are a wife and three children, I will not disgrace myself by going near you again.

Then the defendant was then discharged.

ALABAMOGH STREET.—Thomas Ferryman and Hannah, his wife, were charged before MR. BINGHAM by Mr. James Brennan, late inspector in the metropolitan police, of having been guilty of the offence of wilfully withholding in possession certain pieces of counterfeit coin and silver implements used in coinage at their residence, No. 2, Crown-place, Soho.

At the opening of the case, the Treasury-office, attended to conduct the case on behalf of the Crown.

Mr. Brennan, of 23, Radnor-street, St. Luke's, deposed that he had been for some time lodging between 7 and 8 o'clock that morning, and found the prisoners in bed, and, having taken means to prevent their escape, searched the prots, a galvanic battery charged with solution, a tany plants of Paris in powder, and other implements of chemistry, and a large quantity of gunpowder. The male prisoner produced the certificate of his marriage, and asked for the discharge of the female prisoner as his wife.

Mr. BINGHAM said he certainly could not accede to his application, at all events, at present.

The prisoner, who declined making any defence, were removed for a week.

Robert Brown and John Herbert were charged with attempting to break out of the prison to the street, the previous night with the intent to commit felony.

Detective Office Code, 317 A, two nights together had observed the prisoners in the company of two associates of theirs, near the same spot in Oxford-street. At a quarter 10 on Thursday night he saw them walking to and fro a short distance from the entrance of the prison. One of the prisoners was Robert Brown, who, on his seizing his arm, threw several stones upon the road from his trousers pocket, and threatened to use violence in the necessity of throwing him down to prevent his escape.

Constable Pease assisted in the apprehension of Herbert, who, when he was taken head, worked into the form of a jenny," or crowbar.

The prisoners were removed for a week.

MARYLENE.—Robert Cunningham was charged on a warrant issued on the 20th inst. for a violently assault on two constables, Russell, 164, and Clarke, 160, of the D division of police.

The prisoner was clearly proved, and the prisoner was sent to the House of Correction for a month.
