

This image shows a vertical strip of a book's endpaper or flyleaf. The central part of the strip is a dark, textured material, possibly leather or a heavy cloth, featuring a repeating pattern of small, light-colored, irregular shapes that resemble stylized flowers or leaves. This central strip is bordered on the left by a thin, light-colored line and on the right by a thin, dark line. The overall appearance is that of a well-preserved, possibly antique, book binding.

