

A vertical strip showing the binding of a book. The left edge is a light, textured material, likely the inner hinge or a gold-leafed edge. The main body is a dark, heavily textured material, possibly marbled paper or a dark cloth, showing signs of wear and discoloration. The right edge is a dark, solid material, likely the outer cover.

