

A close-up photograph of the fore-edge of a book. The binding material, which appears to be a dark, patterned cloth or leather, is visible at the bottom. The edges of the pages are visible, showing some wear and discoloration. The book is resting on a dark surface.

