

A vertical strip of a book's endpaper or binding. The left side is a dark, textured material, possibly leather or cloth. The right side is a lighter, patterned material, possibly paper or fabric, with a repeating floral or geometric design in dark and light colors. The strip is narrow and runs vertically.

