

A close-up, vertical view of the fore-edge of a book. The left side shows the light-colored, textured pages, while the right side is a dark, solid black cover. The binding material is visible along the edge.

